

Thank you for downloading the Study Guide to go along with the performance presented by Arts On Stage. The last page of this Study Guide is a Letter to Families for you to send home with the child that includes information on what they saw to encourage parents to ask their child about the field trip.

Please direct any questions or correspondence (letters to performers from staff and/or students) to Arts On Stage. Make sure you note what performance and we will make sure they get into the right hands.

Contact Information:

email: info@artsonstage.org

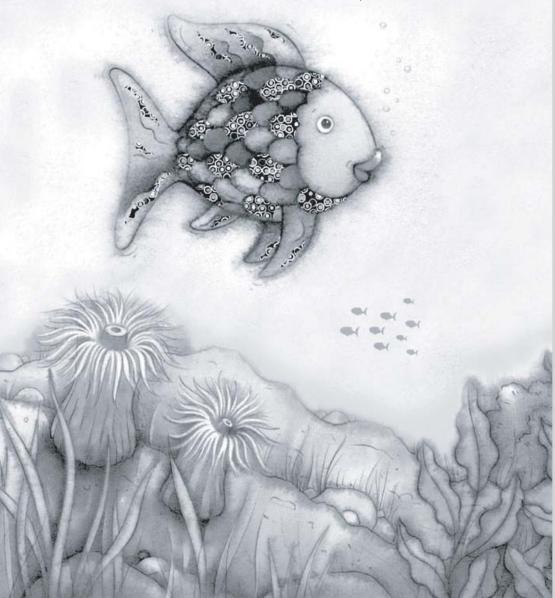

phone: 410-252-8717

fax: 410-560-0067

mail: 12 Broadridge Lane, Lutherville, MD 21093

ArtsPower NATIONAL TOURING THEATRE

Generously Funded by

Additional support provided by The Blanche and Irving Laurie Foundation

ArtsPower 271 Grove Avenue, Bldg. A Verona, NJ 07044

Table of Contents

This Study Buddy[™] published by ArtsPower National Touring Theatre is designed to help you and your students prepare for, enjoy, and learn from our musical The Rainbow Fish, based on the popular book by Marcus Pfister. It contains background information about the production as well as cross-curricular activities to present to your students both before and after the performance.

About Our Show and

ArtsPower	2
Activity Page	3
Learn More	4
Your Turn	5
All About Theatre	6
Write to Us!	7

GARY W. BLACKMAN Founding Co-Director

MARK A. BLACKMAN Founding Co-Director

GREG GUNNING Artistic Director

THE RAINBOW FISH Based on the book by Marcus Pfister. Published by North-South Books, Inc. New York.

Adapted by Greg Gunning Music by Richard DeRosa Lyrics by Greg Gunning

Original Direction by Greg Gunning

Incidental Music by Ron Drotos

Sets by Tom Carroll Scenery

Costumes by Fred Sorrentino

STUDY BUDDY[™] Veronica Heller, Writer Dan Helzer, Designer Mark Blackman, Editor

© ArtsPower 2004 Please photocopy any of the following pages.

ABOUT OUR SHOW

Teachers: Please read "About Our Show" to your students before seeing the performance.

• f all the fish in the deep blue sea, the Rainbow Fish is the most beautiful. She is the only one with lovely shiny scales, and she certainly knows it; she spends most of her time looking at herself in the mirror. But when she will not share her scales with the Green Fish and the Blue Fish, they do not want to be friends with her anymore.

Rainbow is very confused. How can they ask her to give away the one thing that makes her special? Remembering what her teacher told her, she decides to look for the Wise Old Octopus and ask for help.

Along the way, she meets a stuck-up Star Fish and a scary Shark. She begins to find out that there are other fish in the sea. When she meets the Octopus at last, the advice she gets is simple: share your gift with others, and you will find happiness. This is still too hard for Rainbow, and she leaves thinking she has made the journey for nothing.

Once the Rainbow Fish returns home, though, she sees her old friends playing and realizes how badly she wants to join them. Do you think she will share her scales with her friends?

A Narrator helps us through the story, using a magic mirror to show the actors in their "fishy" forms.

Founded in 1985 by Gary Blackman and Mark Blackman, ArtsPower is one of America's largest producers of professional Actors' Equity Association theatre for young and family audiences. We tour our original musicals and plays across the United States - 43 states in all - in many of our nation's first-run Broadway theatres, cultural centers, university auditoriums, and schools. With nearly 900 performances annually, ArtsPower has amassed an audience of seven million people.

ArtsPower's mission is to create and tour nationally-recognized, professional Equity theatre of exceptional quality that nurtures in both children and adults a deeper connection to family, peers, and their own feelings, and instills in them what it means to be a good person in heart, mind, and deed. ArtsPower's productions speak to the rewards associated with overcoming adversity, standing up to prejudice and inequity, and of the American ideals of freedom and respect for others.

ArtsPower's main offices are located at 271 Grove Avenue, Bldg. A, Verona, NJ 07044. Our toll-free number is (888) 278-7769. We welcome your questions or comments.

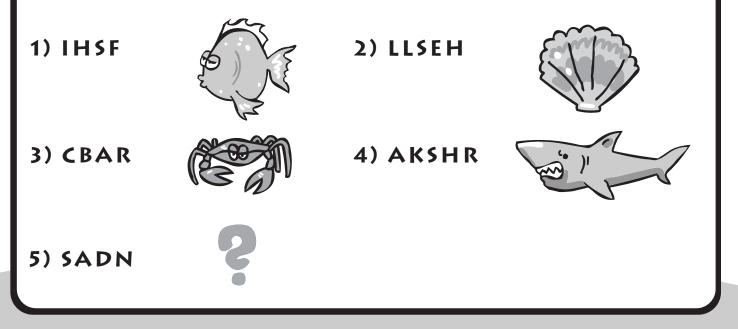

TRY THESE: ACTIVITY FOR (GRADES K-1)

Teachers: Please photocopy and distribute to your students.

The Rainbow Fish feels all mixed up when her friends get angry at her. The letters in some of the words below have gotten mixed up! Can you make these scrambled letters spell the names of things you might find under the sea? Hint: look at the pictures for help!

LEARN MORE

Teachers: Please read LEARN MORE to your students and then distribute this page.

R eady for some fun fish facts? After your teacher reads to you about fish, think about what you have learned and try the activities below.

➤ Fish are covered in hard plates called scales. These scales protect the fish.

► How can fish breathe underwater? They use small slits called gills. Through the gills, fish can breathe water as easily as you breathe air!

➤ Did you know that fish were around before the dinosaurs? They come in many different shapes and sizes. A whale shark, for example, can grow to more than fifty feet long!

YOUR TURN

Teachers: Please read YOUR TURN to your students and then distribute this page.

hen the characters in The Rainbow Fish look into a magic mirror, we can see them as they really look. Imagine your own magic mirror. When you look into it, what do you see? What do you like most about yourself, and what would you like others to see when they look at you?

Draw yourself in the imaginary mirror below.

ALL ABOUT THEATRE

Teachers: Please read this page to your students. Discuss their responses to the "Think About It" questions.

A atching a play is not the same as watching a movie or a television show. In the audience, you can see the performance as it is happening; it is live and not on tape. For this reason, actors use special ways of telling the story onstage.

Music: This production is called a musical. That means the actors use music and songs instead of simply talking. They can sing to each other or to the audience. Often, music helps to show how a character is feeling.

Think About It: Why might music be a good way to show feelings? How might it be better than talking?

Doubling: When one person acts out more than one part, this is called doubling. ArtsPower uses only four actors to play eleven parts. For example, the Green Fish and the Shark are played by the same actor.

Think About It: Why didn't ArtsPower just use eleven actors? Why might doubling be a better way?

Props: The Rainbow Fish and her friends live under the sea, but this play does not actually bring you underwater! Instead, props are used. Props are objects used by the actors as they perform. You, in the audience, have an important job: you must use your imagination to help turn props into the real thing.

Think About It: What if you had to pretend the stage were really underwater? What props might you use? During the performance, see if ArtsPower used any of your ideas!

Adaptation: This play is called an adaptation. That means it came from a different source and was changed. Marcus Pfister's book The Rainbow Fish is the source for ArtsPower's play. Read the book!

Think About It: After you read The Rainbow Fish, you can watch to see how the play is different. Why do you think some parts were changed?

Other Books by Marcus Pfister: Milo and the Magical Stones Sun and Moon The Magic Book Dazzle the Dinosaur Just the Way You Are Dear Family, Today, I saw a live, professional theatre performance presented by Arts On Stage called, The Rainbow Fish. The play turned Marcus Pfister's bestselling book into a delightful and touching musical about the value of sharing true friendship with others. Attending a live performance is very different from watching a television show or a movie. Please ask me about my favorite characters and parts of the play. I would like to tell you all the things I learned and remember best.

Love,

Child's Name

We welcome you and/or your child's comments. Artwork is always appreciated too! Contact information below.

info@ArtsOnStage.org

www.ArtsOnStage.org

410-252-8717

tage

Mail: Arts On Stage, Attn: Jamie Papas, 12 Broadridge Lane, Lutherville, MD 21093